Acclaim For Local Group At Square Dance Convention

"Hottest dancers in the nation," an accolade used to describe their verve and proficiency, was the rating earned by the Tadpole Squares at the eleventh annual national square dance convention in Miami Beach, Fla., from which the local group returned Thursday.

Workshop demonstrations by 13 Quad-City youngsters, ranging in age from 10 to 16, "stole the show," since other entries were unable to match them in competence or in degree of square dance knowledge.

Also drawing attention was Press-Record coverage of the graduation of 800 local children from 1961-62 park district square dance instruction, regarded as the largest such group to be taught anywhere in the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boyd lead the Tadpoles and are instructors for the park program.

Local convention participants totaled 25,000, the local group was located by Mrs. Edith McCasland, Leisure City, Fla., and former Granite City woman formerly worked with Mrs. Boyd.

Seeing a Press-Record photo of the square dancers taken as they were departing for their home, they drove 90 miles for a reunion with them.

Contrasting with the strenuous all-day and all-evening dancing at the convention, the Tadpole Squares' auto trip to and from Florida was leisurely, including sightseeing in the Everglades, orange groves, a missile research center and Lookout Mountain.

Parked Autos Prove Weekend Theft Targets

Parked automobiles apparently were the main target of thieves in the area over the weekend, as four thefts from vehicles were reported. Three guns were taken from a house, a missing wallet with over $100 in cash, and a break-in attempt at a restaurant, was listed by police.

Richard Hillmer, 2021 Sixth street, East Madison, told authorities his auto was looted last night while he was sleeping in his home. He said a steel tape measure and two flashlights were taken from his car.

Three guns were stolen Sunday from the home of Robert Fyler, 1800 S. 10th street, where burglars forced a rear bedroom window to gain entrance. A 20-gauge shotgun, a bolt-action .30-caliber rifle and an air pellet pistol were taken by the intruders who overtook an unspecified amount of money that was in plain view.

Richard Hillmer, 2021 Sixth street, told Madison police four spinner hubcaps valued at $40, were taken from his car. It was parked in the 1400 block of Second street between 1 a.m. and 2 a.m.

Lester Flannery, of 2909 Cayuga street, told police he heard the sound of an auto being raised Sunday night, and this morning found the voltage regulator was missing from his car parked in his back yard.

James Greer, of 1228 (rear) Edwards road, reported to Granite City police that a battery had been stolen from his auto while he was parked in his driveway Thursday night.

Burglars attempted unsuccessfully to enter the entrance of the Coffee Mill cafe, 1533 East 20th street, early Sunday morning. A door screen was broken out, and a glass was smashed with a mop handle. An attempt was then made to reach the back of the door. The door was secured with an iron bar locked in place, however. Nothing was reported missing from the premises.

A wallet containing about $375 was lost, stolen in Madison between 5 p.m. Thursday and 1:40 a.m. Friday, police were notified by William L. Lee, 72, of 1527 Fourth street.

He discovered that the brown leather wallet was missing from a pocket of his trousers after visiting several business places between 5 p.m. Thursday and 1:40 a.m. Friday. More than $300, including $3, $10, and $20 bills, and the billfold also contained a railroad pass, driver's license and other papers.

GOP Superintendent Candidate Withdraws

E. L. Alexander, nominated as Republican candidate for county superintendent of schools by write-in vote in April's primary election, last week filed a request for withdrawal.

Miss Eulalia Hotz, county clerk, said Alexander received 382 write-in votes in the primary to oppose incumbent Democratic superintendent Wilbur R. L. Trimp.

The former Edwardsville school superintendent had made no effort to gain the nomination, and had not actively sought the write-in vote. His was one of six G.O.P. nominations made on the basis of write-in votes.

Deadline for withdrawal from the Nov. 6 general election is Sept. 22.

Contractors Invited To See Test At SIU

Contractors planning to bid on the foundation aspect of new buildings at the Southwestern campus of SIU have been invited to witness a caisson excavation test Thursday morning at the campus site.

The test shaft will go down in the central academic area of the campus which is located two and one-half miles southwest of Edwardsville, off U. S. Highway 66.

The purpose of the excavation, according to assistant university architect John Randall, is to test soil behavior by means of open hole drilling.

Parked Car Damaged

As the auto of Edward Hill, 1227 Calhoun street, Venice, was backing at the rear of 1454 Fourth street, Madison, at 8 p.m. Friday, it dented the front bumper of the parked car of George M. White Jr., 1435 Fourth.

FAMILIAR PROBLEM was noticeable in Granite City yesterday afternoon even though only a third of an inch of rain fell.

Autos splashed through an accumulation of water at this point—the view is east in the 2000 block of Johnson road—and also sprayed passing vehicles at other locations. A drainage program to minimize such problems is to be voted on this summer or fall.

Miss Geraldine F. Barry, Paul A. Eads Wed Saturday

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church was the scene Saturday morning of the wedding of Miss Geraldine Frances Barry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael H. Barry, 1713 Moro avenue, and Paul Albert Eads, 2324 Paul avenue. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Baumbarger, reside at 2415 Pine street.

Rev. Lawrence J. Mattioli officiated at the nine o'clock Nuptial Mass, before an altar decorated with basket arrangements of white gladioli, pom poms and greenery. Burning tapers in branched candelabra illuminated the sanctuary for the double-ring ceremony. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father who gave her in marriage. She was gowning in pure white silk organza, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline edged with tiny scallops of Chantilly lace and sprinkled with white sequins. Brief lace sleeves were set into the fitted bodice, cut to a point at the front and back of a lowered waistline with a row of small covered buttons detailing the back. The wide skirt was further extended over layers of crinolines, was gathered full at either side and enhanced with delicate motifs of lace and satin. A large full bloom rose nestled in a pool of organza accented the back of the skirt with voluminous panels of silk organza cascading downward forming the regal Cathedral train. A crown of pearls embellished with luminous tresser pearls, held in a four-tiered finger veil of imported pure silk illusion. The bride's bouquet was a crescent arrangement of stephanotis, dracaena leaves and white roses, ornamented with lace and tiny pearl hearts, and centered with a detachable corsage of white roses.

Proceeding the bride down the aisle was a retinue of attendants including a maid of honor, Miss Jo Ann Bucher, a bridesmaid, the bride, two bridesmaids, Miss Kathy Synski and Miss Pam Parkinson, and a junior bridesmaid, Miss Mary Ann McKinney. Two little flower girls, Misses Jamie Stephens and Jolene E. Eads, a cousin of the bride, were escorted by Bruce W. Baumbarger, brother of the groom, and Joey Barry, the bride's brother, who carried white satin heart-shaped pillows bearing the two rings.

Mr. Eads was served by Charles T. Parkinson, his best man with his brother, Gary Eads, and George L. Topp, a cousin of the bride, as groomsmen. Michael Barry, the bride's brother, was the junior groomsman, and the corps of ushers was headed by Monte Kesner and John Smith, a cousin of the bride.

The adult attendants were gowning alike with the bride in pale aqua and the bridesmaids in maize-yellow. The groom and organza over taffeta were full length with shirred bodice and square necklines. Very bouffant skirts were designed in a modic fied apron effect with the fullness caught up into a double bustle at the back waistline, accented with two large organza roses at each side. On their hair, they wore double crowns of sequins and organza, attached with circular nose-tip veils and they carried nosegays of white feathered carnations. Their centers tilted to match their gowns and trailing a shower of satin streamers.

The junior bridesmaid and flower girls wore identical dresses, with Miss McKinney in aqua and the two younger misses in white. Their gowns of silk organza were floor length with scoop necklines and brief sleeves. Clusters of roses were inserted at the hem of the full skirt which were gathered to a wide cummerbund encircling the waistline and terminated in a flat bow and long streamers. Their headpieces were crownlets of sequins and the flower girls carried white baskets filled with red rose petals.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Barry selected a pale blue sheath dress of embroidered cotton with a hat of intricate shades of blue and white accessories. Mrs. Baumbarger appeared in a white pique sheath, applied in pastel shades with beige and white accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white carnations and pearl hearts pinned at the shoulder.

Wedding music was provided by Miss Pauline Kuberski, organist, who accompanied the soloist, Peter Gallas, as he sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother, Ave Marie," "Oh Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "At Thy Feet I Am Kneeling".

Before leaving the sanctuary, the bride passed to lay a bouquet of white and yellow carnations at the statue of the Blessed Virgin. Following the wedding breakfast was held at the Polish Hall, Madison, for the immediate family and out-of-town guests. At six o'clock that evening a reception was given at the same place. Mrs. Robert Briggs of Louisville, Ky., presided at the guests attending were Mrs. J. J. Stephens, Mrs. E. J. Coleman, Mrs. Charles Vincent and family of Maryville, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fairless and daughter, Julie, of Richmond, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Harkabus and family, of Calumet City, and John Stelmarsik and daughter, Pat, of Chicago.

The newlyweds left for their honeymoon at the O'Leary and will be home to friends after July 4, at 1621 Second street, Madison. The bride is employed at the East of Granite City high school in January 1960. The former Miss Barry is employed at the East of Granite City Beauty Salon, while her husband who attended Southern Illinois University is employed at the Granite City Steel Co.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL A. EADS, who were married Saturday morning at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Barry, 1713 Moro avenue, the bride is the former Geraldine Frances Barry.

Miss Sandra Lee Brown And James Edward Grote Wed

Candlelight illuminated the Second Baptist Church on Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Sandra Lee Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lee Brown, 2807 Elmwood street, and James Edward Grote, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Grote, 2701 Denver street. Rev. W. L. Showers officiated at the 7:30 o'clock double-ring ceremony. The altar was adorned with fan-shaped arrangements of orchid gladioli, white fuchsia and feverfew, flanked by burning tapers in seven branched candelabra. The aisle was carpeted in white and satin bows marked the family pews.

Proceeding the bride and her father down the aisle was a maid of honor, Mrs. George Pott, and three bridesmaids, Mrs. Thomas Bladick, Miss Betty Grote and Miss LaVerne Grote. The latter two sisters of the groom, the bride's seven-year-old sister, Cheryl, was her flower girl and walked with her brother, five-year-old Richard Brown, who carried a white satin ring pillow.

The former Miss Brown was gowning in traditional white satin, classic in styling. Long light blue sleeves, tapered to points over the hands, were fitted into the moulded bodice fashioned with a rounded neckline edged with scallops of Chantilly lace. Her bouffant skirt, worn over a Dior hoop, was applied with lace motifs starting at the waistline and spiraling downward to end in two satin bows at each side of the skirt hemline. Pleats of tulle and white ivy centered with deep purple Callistia orchids and trailing streamers in orchid and white.

The adult attendants were in orchid nylon chiffon over net and taffeta, with very full ballerina-length skirts. Designed with Miss Florine necklines cut to a point at the back and outlined with satin, their bodices had belled mid-leeves edged with satin to match the sash waists trimmed with small bows. Their picture hats were ruffled nylon net accented with orchid ribbons and lace and they carried cascades of majestic daisies in pink for the maid of honor and yellow for the bridesmaids.

The little flower girl was dressed in white nylon with appliques of lace detailing the short sleeves and collar. Puff sleeves and a collar trimmed with lace accented the bodice with a hand-made flower nestled at the waist. Her picture hat matched the older attendants and she carried a colonial nosegay of pink sweet heart roses.

Norman Grote, a cousin of the groom, served as best man with Max Mahon, Jack Haug and Donald Brown, the bride's brother, as groomsmen. The ushers were George Pong and George Sykes. Wedding music was played by Miss Betty Hoffman at the organ, who accompanied the soloist, Miss Beverly Jackson, who sang "Oh Promise Me," "With This Ring" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. Brown selected a beige brocade afternoon frock with a full skirt and elbow-length sleeves, while Mrs. Grote appeared in a rose-beige lace sheath dress. Both mothers wore white accessories and had corsages of white feathered carnations pinned at the shoulder.

Approximately 200 guests attended the reception held in the

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thomas selected as printed silk sheath dress in pastel blue and maize on an oyster white background the accessories were white and maize with a pale yellow orchid attached to a small white bag.

A receiving line was held at the church immediately after the ceremony with guests presented with gift boxes of wedding cake by Mrs. C. W. Hausa-faust of Alton, an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Hugh Thompson of Farmington, Mich., the groom's sister-in-law, presided over the

MRS. BERNARD C. THOMPSON, the former Megan Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Thomas, 2549 State street, who was married Saturday afternoon at First United Presbyterian Church.

Double-Ring Ceremony For Thompson-Thomas Nuptials

White fugi-mums and daisies banked with greenery formed the setting Saturday afternoon at the First United Presbyterian Church for the wedding of Miss Megan Thomas, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. David H. Thomas, 2549 State street, and Bernard Charles Thompson of Decatur, Mr. Thompson is the son of Mrs. Albert C. McDonald, near Farmington, Mich., and the late Mr. Albert C. McDonald.

Rev. David B. Maxton heard the marriage vows recited at the four o'clock double-ring ceremony with the bride and groom kneeling before the altar on a white leather prayer bench adorned with a gold cross and vase of pompons and 'mums. Preceding the service, Kenneth L. MacClatchey, organist, played appropriate selections and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Keith Curtis, who sang "Bless This House" and "If I Could Tell You."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of pure white silk organza over silk tulle. The fitted bodice of imported Chantilly lace was designed with a scoop neckline and brief sleeves. Her very bouffant skirt swept into a demitour, delicately outlined with Chantilly lace, re-embroidered to match the bodice. A cluster of handmade silk organza roses accented the back waistline, according to the additional fullness which cascaded to the floor and formed the modified train.

The former Miss Thomas had a bridal veil of white silk illusion attached to a bandeau of silk organza, ruffles and her hands were encased in silk organza gloves. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. The former Miss Jansen of Chagrin Falls, O., the bride's aunt, was her matron of honor, and Mrs. Samuel J. Ryerson of Decatur, a former classmate, was her bridesmaid.

The attendants were attired in identical rows of white silk organza over tulle, fashioned with softly draped midriffs dipping in the center front and back over a beaded skirt. Their molded bodices had oval necklines and on their hair they wore a full bloom white rose encircled with filmy white tulle. Short white gloves and pale aqua shantung pumps complemented their gowns and they carried colonial nosegays of aqua tinted daisies.

The little flower girl was Miss Miss Jansen, the bride's cousin, who was dressed in a white organza frock embroidered with tiny pink roses. Her short full skirt was extended over a bouffant lace petticoat and she held a miniature nosegay of pink roses.

The groom chose his brother, Hugh Thompson of Farmington, Mich., as best man, with Samuel J. Ryerson of Decatur, as groomsmen. The bridesmaids were David E. Thomas, the bride's brother, and Ronald A. Jansen, Mark Jansen and Martin Hartman, all cousins of the bride. Miss Deanne Hillen and Miss Catherine Landrum served as candlelighters.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Thomas selected as printed silk sheath dress in pastel blue and maize on an oyster white background the accessories were white and maize with a pale yellow orchid attached to a small white bag.

A receiving line was held at the church immediately after the ceremony with guests presented with gift boxes of wedding cake by Mrs. C. W. Hausa-faust of Alton, an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Hugh Thompson of Farmington, Mich., the groom's sister-in-law, presided over the

Those Who Serve

an influence for good...

What is a boy without adult leadership? He could possibly grow up to be President. But he's more likely to wind up in trouble. Without adult guidance a boy might grow like a weed in an untended garden.

Over the years since Scouting was introduced in this country, millions of boys have benefited from the guidance of Scoutmasters. And no one will ever know the legions of boys they, in turn, have influenced.

The Scoutmaster not only leads a troop; he influences the life of every boy in it. He has volunteered his time and effort to prepare boys to be better citizens.

He guides boys in finding values expressed in the Scout Oath: On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

The Oath, by itself, means nothing. It's the Scoutmaster who breathes life into it and gives it meaning. And every boy who lives it is the Scoutmaster's legacy to the future of America. Because of him a youth learns to stand straight and tall like a mighty oak.

had been invited to the meeting to explain the citizens' pollution-drainage program. Partney was a guest to outline the benefits of federal urban renewal funds which would be available to the city if it proceeds with the citizens' committee program.

Credit For Federal Funds
"With the $10,000,000 city program, we can apply for a $3 for $1 grant, which would amount to $20,000,000 or more depending on the types of credits we would receive," Partney said.

"We can use this federal money to build streets, sidewalks and sewers as well as redevelop the older sections of the city."

Partney said he had conferred with several urban renewal officials, and the federal funds can be used to the benefit of many Granite Cityans living in older sections of the city.

"We don't have to go into a wholesale land clearance program. If there is a blighted block with two or three good houses, the old ones can be torn down and the good ones can be repaired. If a house is bought and razed, the owner can build a new one on the same site with about $500 down and $20 to $30 monthly charges," Partney added.

Both he and Beatty stressed that rehabilitation of blighted areas would increase the value of the property involved and possibly result in a city-wide reduction in taxes.

Beatty added that blighted blocks also could be cleared for redevelopment as off-street parking lots or commercial places.

"Granite City would be sectionalized under an urban renewal program to determine the areas to be redeveloped and how they would be redeveloped. You can see that there could be benefits from this pollution-drainage bond issue for the little person—the one on a limited income or pension—if the low-tax areas are redeveloped and become more valuable for taxing purposes."

"If this is done on a large scale, the city's overall tax rates could be reduced — and that would help the little guy."

New Libson Shop Here Plans Store Renovation

Extensive remodeling of the new Libson Shop in Granite City is to begin as soon as the Lee Shop completes sale of present stock and vacates the building. Libson Shops President H. E. Lieberman has announced.

The Libson Shop is taken long term leases on Lee Shops here, in Edwardsville and in Collinsville. A complete renovation of the local store is planned, Lieberman said. The store is located at Nineteenth street and Edison avenue.

Selection of a staff of salespeople is currently underway, Lieberman said. The staff will undergo training conducted by Libson Shops.

MORE ABOUT Union Criticizes

All three aldermen had voted against the contract emphasizing that the city could cut department costs, and that the actual cost of the collections, department expenses for weed cutting, insect spraying and the $6000 a year salary of a man to clean and gas the trucks, was about $9000 a year less than the contract price.

Crouch pointed out that the service now being provided by six three-man crews is to be provided the city by four or five men operating trucks that will be based in St. Louis and which will have to be driven to Granite City each day. "The extra services provided by the city department, such as call backs and pickups five times a week at some restaurants, won't be given, and there are bound to be many complaints."

The three aldermen said they would refer the complaints to the mayor's office.

"Gift Wrap" Garbage
Duty added that individual households will be required to "gift wrap" their garbage. "The contract calls for all garbage to be wrapped before being placed in containers, and the contractor won't have to pick up loose garbage."

"Something has to be done not only to keep good service in Granite City, but to save these men's jobs. We've never said the local department has to have 18 men, and we wouldn't be against any economy move by the city. The council is probably going to act Monday night on the bids to sell the sanitation department trucks."

Larry Yust, manager of United Disposal Corp., the private contracting firm, told the Press-Record last week his firm will employ five persons for operation of five trucks, and that none of the present city employees have submitted applications.

The firm will have a basic operation of four trucks with the fifth as a standby unit. The drivers will make the pickups as well as driving the trucks, requiring containers to be placed at the alley line where there are alleys at the curbline where there are no alleys.

Yust said he could quote no figures on extra service, saying each request would have to be studied individually.

"The town has been surveyed," Yust said, "and we're in the process of hiring the drivers." He said that the union's request that the trucks would be headquartered in St. Louis and the driver's hired through a Teamsters' Local there.

A map showing the schedule of pickups is to be published in Thursday's Press-Record.

About Radio Station WGNU Labor Dispute

Radio Station WGNU, in Granite City, began operations in December of 1961 and Broadcasting Engineers of Local No. 4, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, have been employed at WGNU. Prior to June 1, 1962, representatives of Local No. 4 had met on a number of occasions with representatives of WGNU in an attempt to negotiate a contract for its Broadcasting Engineers. On June 1, 1962, the negotiations having failed, the four Broadcasting Engineers, all members of Local No. 4, went on strike. On May 31, 1962, THE DAY BEFORE, unknown to Local No. 4, WGNU signed a recognition agreement with Local No. 525 of the Teamsters purporting to cover all of WGNU'S employees. The Teamsters claim to have membership cards signed by five of WGNU's nine employees. Among the five, the Teamsters claim to have signed Albert L. Stevens, Jr., also known as Bob Baker, Station Manager of WGNU.

Broadcasting Engineers of Local 4 have been receiving wages from WGNU substantially below those of other engineers covered by Local No. 4 contracts in the St. Louis Metropolitan Area. Local No. 4 represents all Broadcasting Engineers at all but a few of the radio stations in this area, on both sides of the Mississippi River, and at all of the television stations.

Radio Station WGNU is owned and operated by Charles H. Norman, John Karoly and George J. Moran doing business as Tri-Cities Broadcasting Company.

The Broadcasting Engineers of Local 4, I.B.E.W. are currently on strike at Radio Station WGNU and will continue to strike until WGNU signs a contract providing for standard wages.

HE OPENED COLLEGE DOORS

JULY 2, 1862

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

One hundred years ago, this July 2, President Lincoln signed the first Morrill Act, better known as the Land-Grant Act, "for the endowment, support, and maintenance of at least one college . . . to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture . . ."

On the centennial of the signing of the first Morrill Act, Abraham Lincoln's statue stands on the University of Illinois campus as a tribute to the man who "opened its doors". Each state received land equal to 30,000 acres for each senator and representative then in Congress . . . "in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the pursuits and professions of life".

President Lincoln's purpose was to provide colleges of agriculture to strengthen and build this vital part of our economy.

Illinois Power has had an important part in bringing electric service to rural areas, and we take this occasion to pay special tribute to the 100,000 customers we serve directly in rural Illinois. This is more than twice as many rural customers as are served by the REA co-operatives which we also supply with electricity and which they, in turn, distribute to their members. Foresight and responsible planning have provided the people of Illinois with the outstanding educational facilities of the University of Illinois. The same faith in agriculture has brought electric service to every farmer in Illinois who wants it.

Soil Tests Under Way For SIU Buildings

A couple of mud-splattered men are getting to the bottom of things these days in the valleys and on the hills of Southern Illinois University's new Southwestern Campus.

They are members of a soil drilling crew whose job it is to make test borings in several areas on the campus to determine the character of the soil so that the engineers and architects will have a sound basis for the foundation design buildings to be erected there.

A truck-mounted drilling rig especially made for soil exploration has been drilling 80-foot deep holes on the campus ever since the first day of May. When the work is completed soon, 40 borings will have been made.

It takes about a day for the rig to drill an 80-foot hole.

Charles Barth, engineer assigned to the assistant university architect's office said, "Soil samples the crew takes at intervals in the drilling are put into special containers, marked and sent to a laboratory for analysis and classification. This information is then translated by the engineers and structural engineers into terms which will apply to the design of building foundations."

"Soil samples taken from the borings give planners a place to start designing foundations," Barth said. "The borings also reveal the depth of bed rock at each building site."

Drilling and other soil investigation should be completed this month.

Twenty borings have been made at the central academic core site, and four more have been made at the site of the sewage plant in the northwest corner of the campus. Barth said the drilling also has explored the heating and refrigeration plant location and is now working at the dam site to obtain information on which to base the design of the earth dam. It will retain water in a functional reservoir being planned for use in the campus heating and air conditioning system. Test pits will also be dug in the impoundment area of the reservoir itself.

A caisson excavation test to check soil bearing by means of open hole drilling will be conducted for interested contractors on Thursday morning, June 28, at the central academic area of the site located two and a half miles southwest of Edwardsville off U.S. Bypass 66.

Area Wheat Shipments Ahead Of Last Year's

Wheat shipments by area farmers to Cargill's local elevator are running at least a week ahead of last year's, a spokesman for the company said over the weekend.

Shipments have run about 200 truckloads a day or better with an approximate average of 600-650 bushels per truckload.

The grain is of good quality. Shipments may continue for another week or 10 days, depending on weather. Friday night's rain probably will slow farmers some, he said.
